

Dear Colleague,

How can we as teachers acquire and develop the competences that we will need to do our job in the 21st Century? What professions will today's pupils and those of tomorrow enter? Professions which we cannot yet imagine. How can we develop the competences, knowledge and lifeskills which will help our pupils to enter the workplace of tomorrow? Teaching in the 21st Century is a rapidly changing profession. How can we prepare ourselves for this?

Click on the link <https://www.surveymonkey.com/s/TTBYL5G> to enter a questionnaire . This questionnaire has been prepared by the Education Commission of the Council of Europe (INGO Conference) with the aim of assessing, on a pan-European level, your needs for Continuing Professional Development which will allow you to cope with the current challenges in education.

The questionnaire is anonymous. Each and every one of your responses is important. The survey should take between 10 and 15 minutes to complete. The results will be of interest to the European training centres as well as to the heads of educational establishments and to teachers. The results will be available online through the Council of Europe website.

Thank you very much for your help!

Yours faithfully

Heleen Jansen

Coordinator of the <<A Teaching Profession for the 21st Century>> Working Group
